The 1946 TOTEM

Published by the Senior Class of South Side High School
Fort Wayne, Indiana

To a swell gal in my English class.
"Lots of fuck!"
Jake Bill

WITH malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow, and his orphan; to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and all nations.

"Let us Strive on"

THIS, and other pictures of South Side, preserve scenes that remind us of the pleasant times we've had. All the small, happy recollections we hold are bound together by our yearbook.

Table of Contents

"With firmness in the right . . . ."

English—Although we're not Walter Pidgeons or Greer Garsons, we do some acting in English class.

Geometry — Cubes, spheres, and all sorts of complicated figures are mathematically mastered by the math majors in solid geometry.

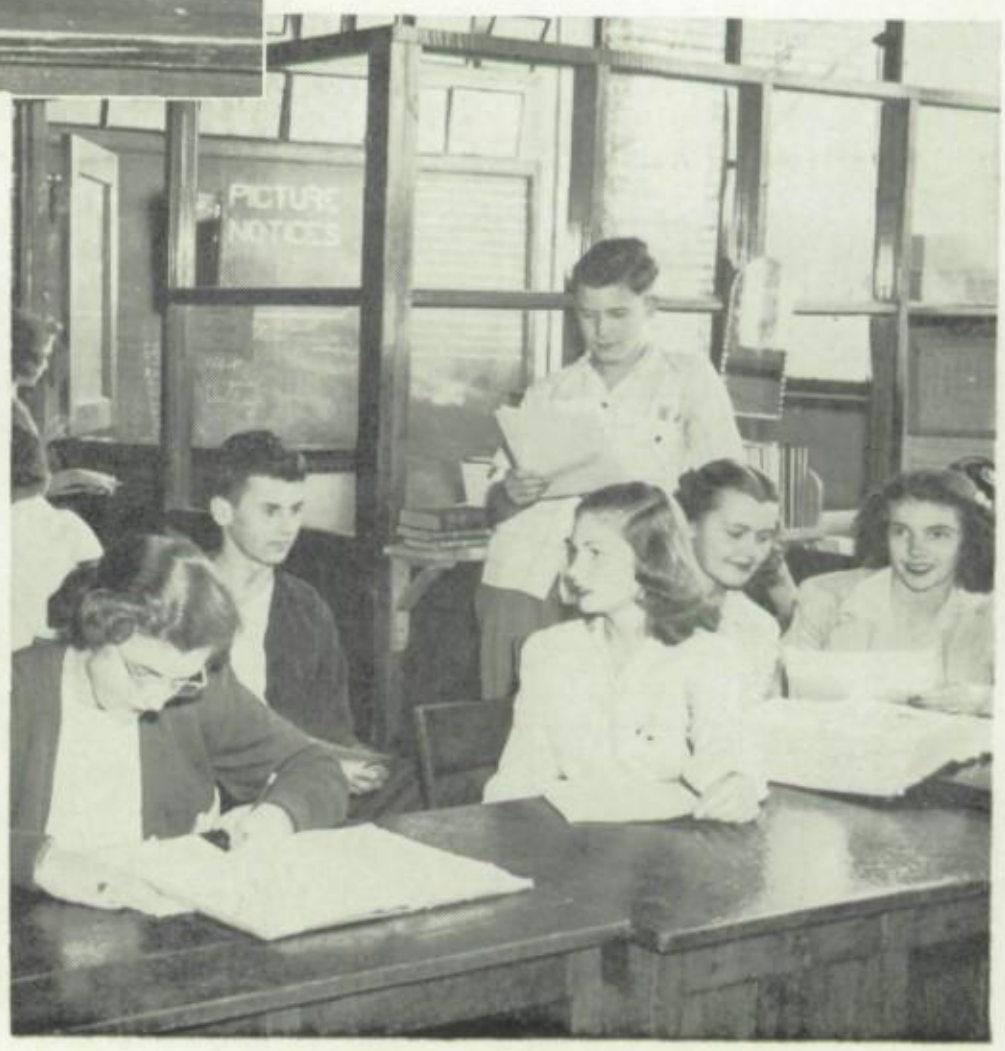
Typing—Seventy words per minute is the aim of these industrious typists.

Bookkeeping—These bookkeeping students are working on straight rows of figures and other entries.

Latin—And in the Language Department, we find the Latin students struggling with Caesar.

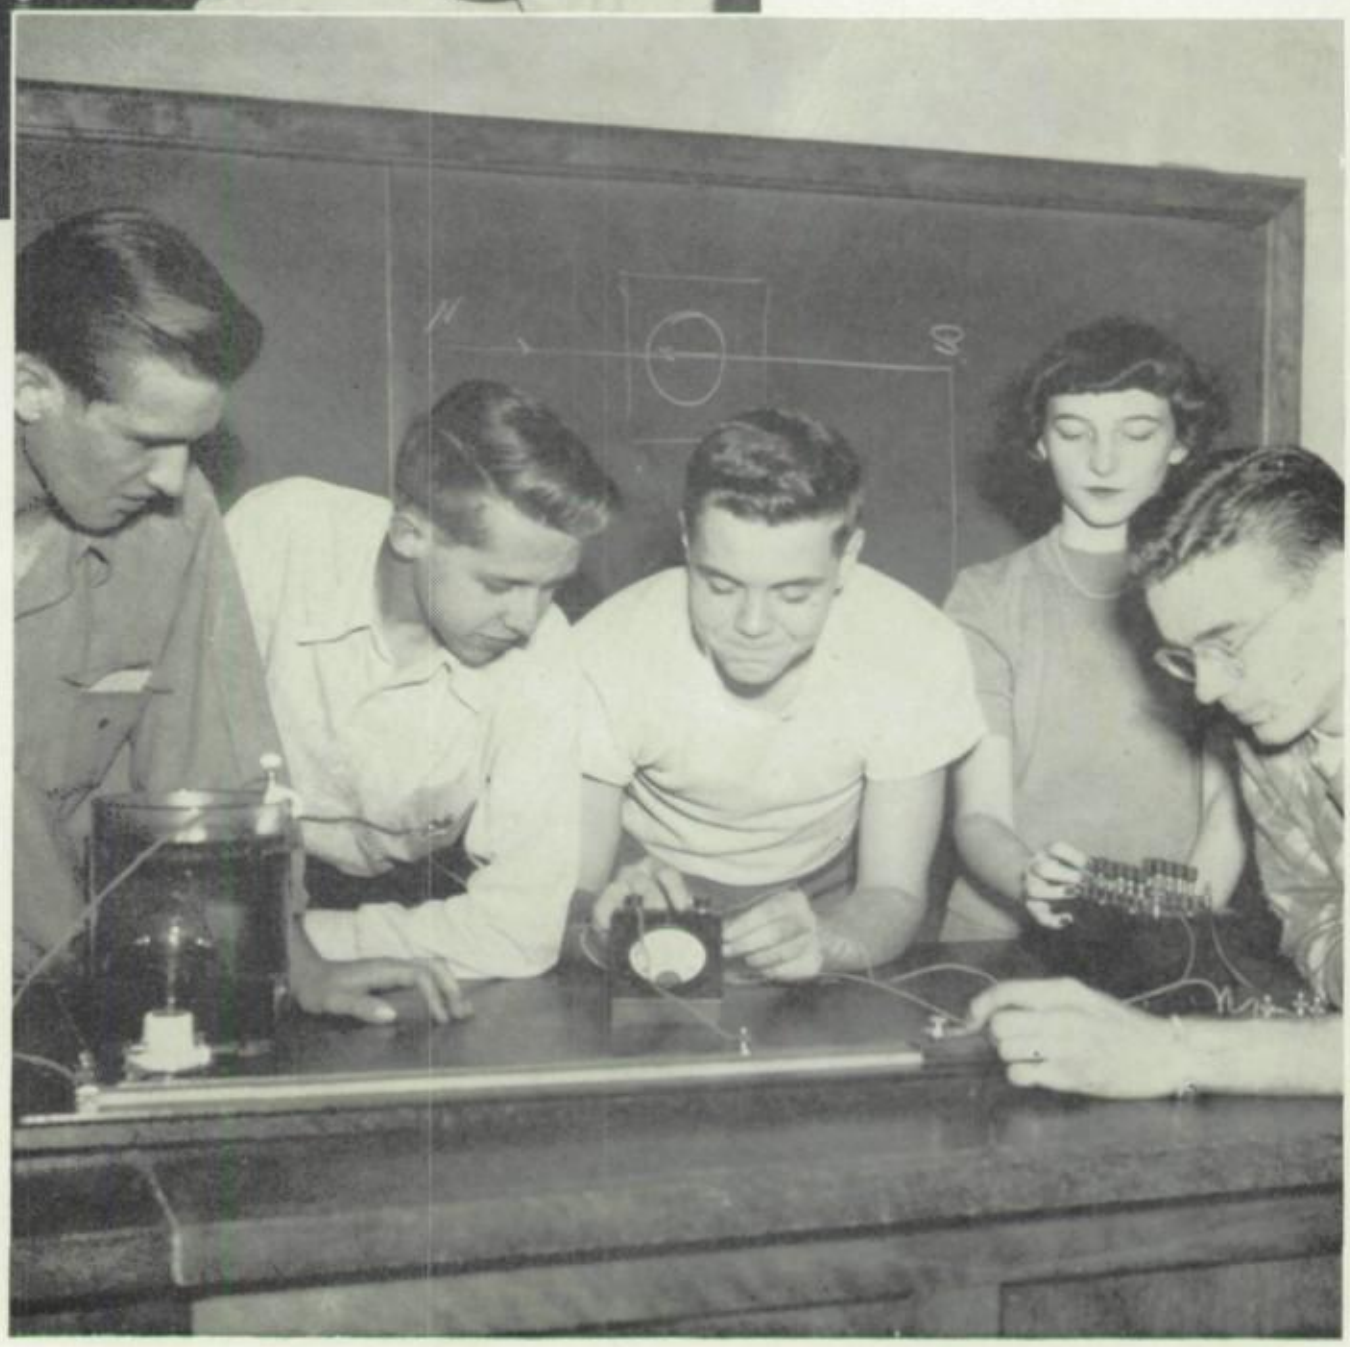
Chemistry — Will it work or explode? That's what these chemistry students are going to discover.

Biology—Bugs, snakes, and toads. What makes 'em that way? Biology students are going to know.



Publications—"Your story's late." "Proof out yet?" "Too late for any more copy." Familiar phrases in the publications room.

Home Economics — Luncheon at noon? Ah yes, and with all the trimmings as these home ec classes ably prove.



Physics—Einstein's theory of relativity? Not quite, but these physics master-minds are trying to get in Number 28 before it is too late.

Art — Who knows, maybe there is a Rembrandt or VanDyke in this group.

Orchestra — Rehearsing for those grand music assemblies are the orchestra members.

Chorus—Can't you just hear them? Remember the Christmas assembly when they bombarded their baritone, Phil Steigerwald, with snowballs?

Speech — "The meeting will please come to order." Familiar words in any public speaking class.

Health—Ear testing is an important part of health education.

To a pal in my Home Room best of luck Sis Cris Lazoff

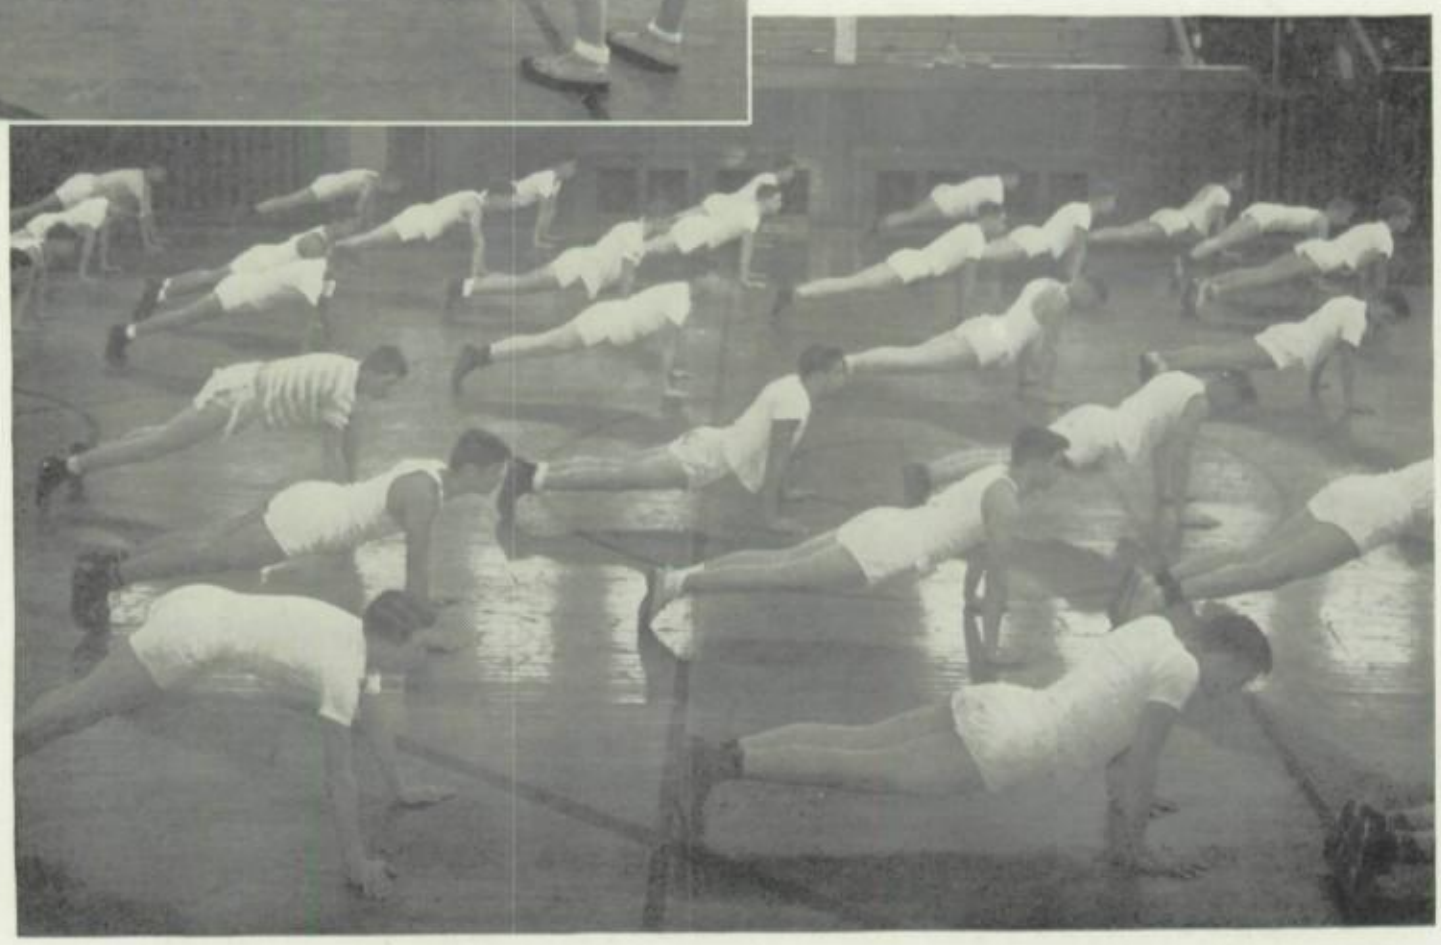
P. G. — Physical geography students learning more about this ol' earth of ours.

Government—UNO, relations with the Argentine, loans to Britain, just daily topics in government class.

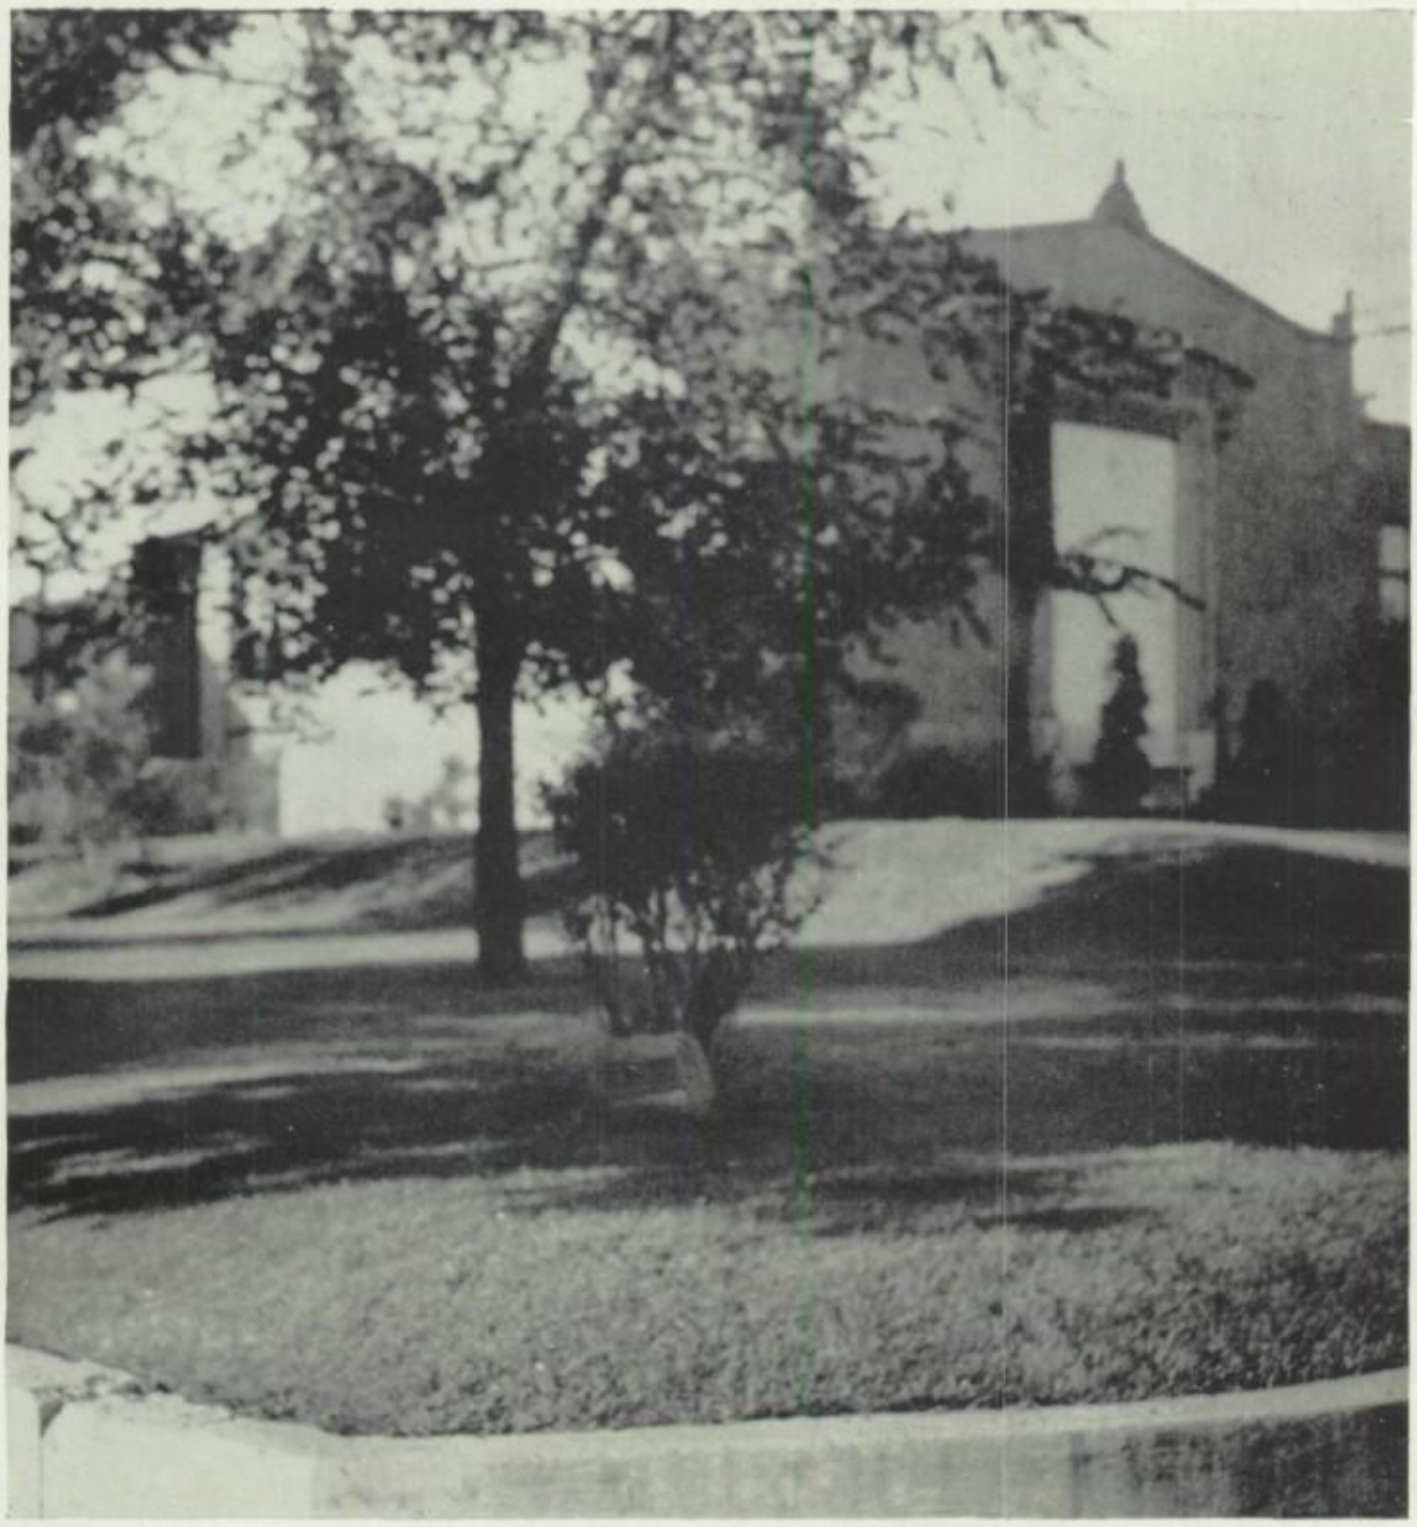
Industrial Arts—"To build a better mouse trap," not literally of course, is the aim of the boys in the "shop."

Girls' Physical Ed—A good game of speedball is lots of fun, any day.

Boys' Physical Ed—"1, 2, 3, 4!" "Up, down! Up, down!" Can't you hear "Louie" telling his boys?

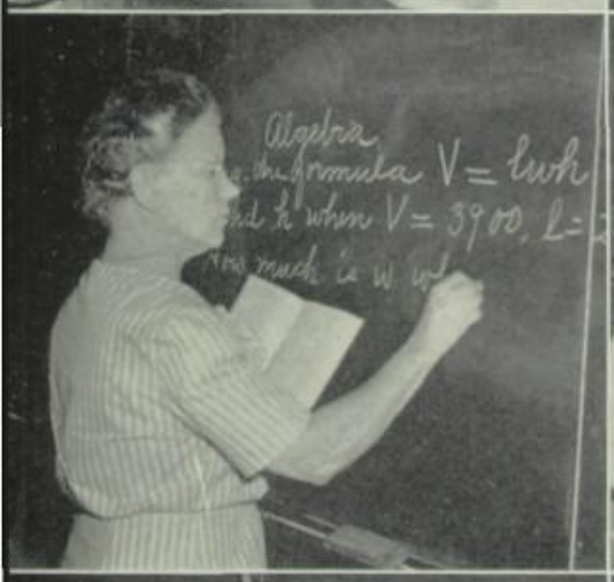


In later years, as we scan our Totems, these views of South Side will remind us of the marvelous times that we have had here. We remember meeting the "gang" on the front lawn after school. We shall never forget the struggle with our last-minute homework under the trees on a spring noon.



It is seldom that we pause to realize the many memories the school grounds hold for us. To the freshmen they may only symbolize the bewilderment felt in new surroundings. At the sight of them, sophomores and juniors probably feel their growing pride in South Side and all that belongs to it. These grounds undoubtedly hold an even greater significance to the seniors. For in their year of parting from their Alma Mater, they recall all the happy times they've had here, crossing the snow-covered grounds on winter mornings, watching the trees bend in the wind on a brisk March noon, and congregating by the side lawn with friends on a lazy spring afternoon. Yes, when we stop to contemplate, the school surroundings hold a great store of pleasant memories for us.

Mr. Herbert Arlington — Band — This musical whiz has made our assemblies and pep sessions really something to look forward to.



Mr. C. A. Bex—Mechanical Drawing—An industrious and intelligent person is our friend Mr. Bex.

Mrs. Grace Bex—Mathematics—She did an excellent job in taking over "Orry's" classes.

Mr. Louis Briner—Physical Education—He rates tops with all the boys whom he has made "tops" in physical fitness.

Mr. George Collyer—History—His outstanding track teams have helped much to make it the popular sport that it has become at South Side.

Miss Nell Covalt—Typing—Nimbleness of fingers and mind make her classes a pleasure.

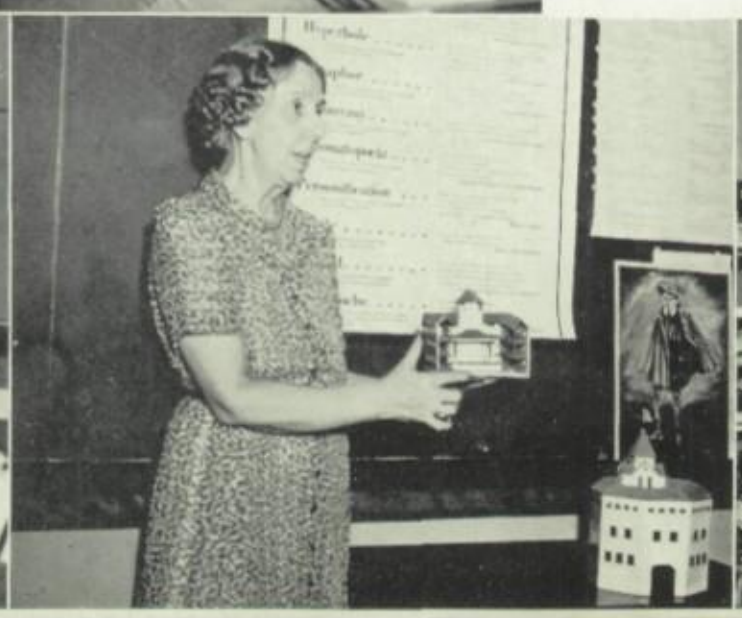
Miss Edith Crowe—Health—She, with the help of Oscar, has made health an interesting study.

Miss Mary Crowe—History—Her group of friends is as wide as the territory covered by the subject she teaches.

Miss Rosemary Delancey—English—A perfect lady who is really well acquainted with English.

Miss Elizabeth Demaree—English—A pleasing smile makes all feel welcome to her classes.

Miss Helen L. Dinius—Commerce—Although she is tiny, we all agree that her personality is mighty.



Miss Erma Dochterman—Art—Her thoughtfulness of others, along with her knowledge of art, has made the Shrine an outstanding memorial.

Francis Fay

Mr. Francis Fay—Latin—We are glad to welcome back this popular pedagogue to our school

Mr. Marion T. Feasel—History—A new and well-liked member of our faculty.

Miss Adelaide Fiedler—Mathematics—The head of our Mathematics Department and a wonderful person to know.

Miss Mabel Fortney—Mathematics—Students have fun—yet get their work done.

Mr. Russell Furst—Commerce—"First" in the hearts of many students here at South Side.

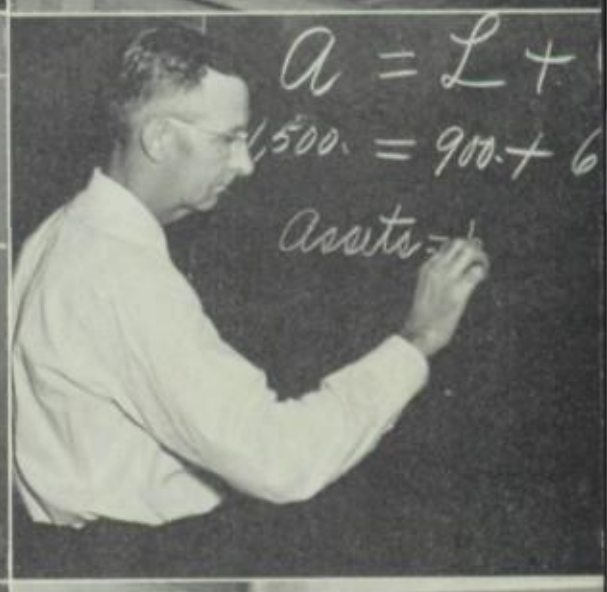
Mr. Ward O. Gilbert—Chemistry—What would the Chem lab be without our greatest friend—Mr. Gilbert?

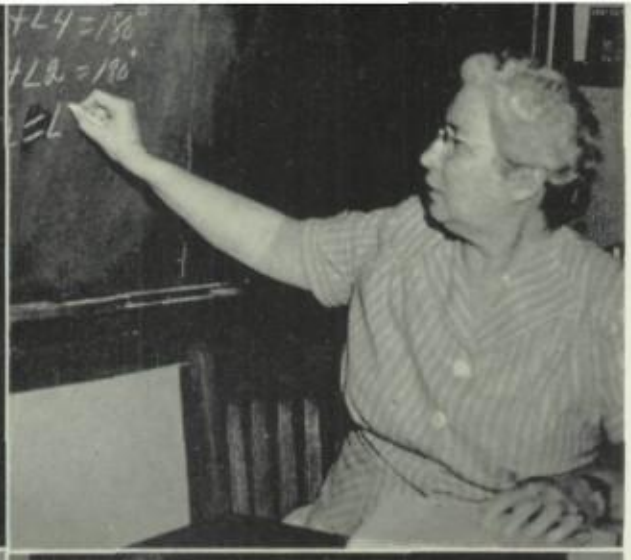
Mr. Elna Gould—Science—If you fellows are in need of a posy for that special gal—just call on Mr. Gould.

Miss Mary Graham—English and Spanish—Her helpfulness as a class adviser has made the senior year one never to be forgotten.

Miss Rowena Harvey—Journalism—As the justly proud mistress of Patsy, and the adviser of our well-known South Side Times, she ranks high as the proverbial city editor.

Mr. A. W. Heine—Science—When he is not dissecting insects, you will usually find him busily at work in the book store.





Miss Amanda Hemmer—English—One of the most clever teachers of our English Department.

Miss George Anna Hodgson—Mathematics — Our personality-plus teacher who really knows her figures.

Mr. Lester Hostetler—Chorus—Whenever "There's a song in the air" you can be sure it is coming from his choir of well-trained voices.

Mr. Louie Hull—Physics — The unusual and rare colors which he produces in class experiments are a symbol of the man himself.

Mrs. Virginia Hunter—Home Economics—Delicious aromas characterize her cooking laboratory.

Miss Blanche Hutto—Art and Latin—For the unique and outstanding decorations at our proms and assemblies we owe much to this teacher.

Mrs. Alice Keegan—Physical Education—1-2-3, 1-2-3. Exercises are fun when a teacher such as she instructs the class.

Miss Elizabeth Kelley—English—She has "seen all, knows all", and makes her class interesting by telling all.

Miss Emma Kiefer—English — Her sunny disposition and her excellent instruction as an English teacher have endeared her to the hearts of many students.

Miss Dorothy Magley — English — Her jolly disposition makes her one of our most popular teachers.

Mr. Herman O. Makey—English and Mathematics — His excellence in anything he undertakes is a constant wonder to all.

Mr. Ralph McClain—Mathematics—Well liked by his host of friends and doing a wonderful job as the manager of the athletic equipment, he is indeed a valuable asset to South Side.

Miss Mary McCloskey — English — Her colorful remarks brighten all of her English classes.

Mr. J. H. McClure—Social Science—The senior class has profited much by having him for a class adviser.

Miss Hazel Miller—History—We will always associate her with the wonderful times she has helped us to have as junior class adviser.

Miss Lucy Mellen—Home Economics—Well known for the many tempting meals which are served in the cafeteria.

Miss Crissie Mott—Home Economics—She has proven to the girls that "a stitch in time saves nine."

Mr. E. H. Murch—Commerce—He keeps the school running smoothly by keeping track of all the school finances and heading the Commerce Department.

Mr. Maurice Murphy—Social Science—Helping us to understand each other is a task in which he is very adept.

Mr. Benjamin Null — English — This popular teacher has proved that unorthodox methods can be successful in his classroom.

Miss Gertrude Oppelt—Latin—A fitting and capable person for the head of the Language Department.

Miss Lucy Osborne—English—For our fine assemblies we owe much to this grand person.

Mr. Delivan Parks — Commerce — His amiable disposition helps him to be the fine instructor he is.

Miss Susen Peck — English — Well-liked by her host of friends and an excellent club adviser.

Miss Olive Perkins—Spanish and French—Her fluency in speaking foreign languages makes them an enjoyable subject to study.

Mr. Clyde Peirce—Social Science—His pleasing personality is one of the things which make his classes interesting.

Mr. Joseph Plasket—Wood-work — He teaches the fellows the art of being useful at home during their spare time.

Miss Helen Pohlmeyer—Physical Education—She, with the help of her partner, makes our spring shows outstanding and gym class enjoyable.

Helen Pohlmeyer

Mr. Stanley Post—Commerce — Our new athletic director has already proved himself capable of filling this difficult position.

Miss Pearl Rehorst—Home Economics — The well-dressed girls in South Side testify to her skill as a teacher.

Mrs. Dorothy Rieke—Speech — Responsible for the many great speech honors which we have won is our Madame R.

Miss Beulah Rinehart—English—Her interpretation of the "Tale of Two Cities" enlivens her classes.

Mrs. Lillian Scott—Attendance—Keeps the school records in order—and the students too.

Lillian Scott

Beulah Rinehart

Mr. Wayne Scott — Physical Education — "Scotty" has coached our basketball team to many fine victories.

Miss Emma Shoup—Library—The well-equipped and popular library which we have today has been obtained through her diligent work.

Mr. Estal Smuts—Metal Work—If only we could make all things as durable as the things which he has made for the school.

Mr. Earl Sterner—Latin — His twinkling brown eyes and witty sayings make him one of our best friends and favorite teachers.

Miss Mabel Thorne—Mathematics—Her love of flowers has made many rooms in our school bright and colorful.

Miss Pauline Van Gorder—Social Science—For our very excellent record in the purchasing of War Stamps and Bonds, we owe her many thanks.

Mrs. Grace Welty—Latin—She believes that the only way the students can learn Latin is to study.

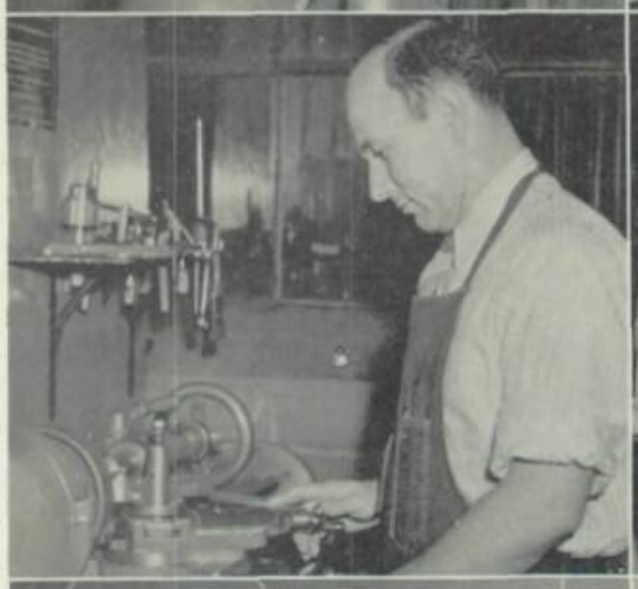
Mr. Lloyd Whelan—Physical Geography—The juniors have shown their respect for him by choosing him as one of their class advisers.

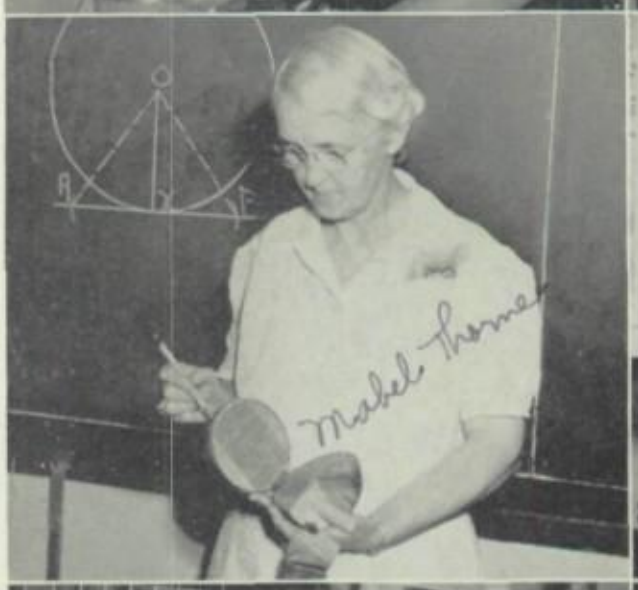
Mr. Wilburn Wilson—Social Science—The films which he has obtained for all classes has brought him the praise of the entire student body.

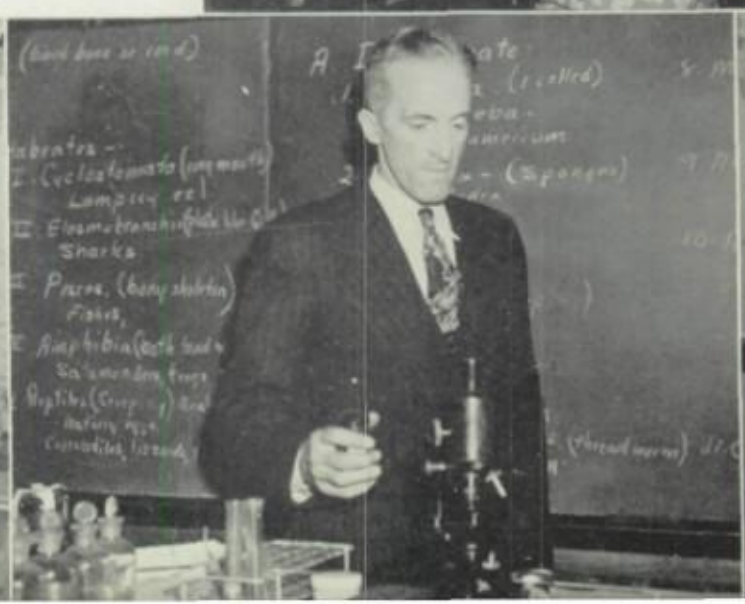
Mr. Dorsa Yoder—Health—A handy man to have around in case of injury or accident.

Miss Leona Zweig—Commerce—With her cheerful laughter and enthusiasm for football, she is the team's ideal fan.

Leona Zweig







Our Alma Mater

Merle J. Abbett

In every group there is a leader. Ours is Merle J. Abbett, who has the responsibility of shaping our future. To him go the problems of the educational policies which help determine tomorrow's youth. He is always ready to study any student's problems or to plan for the betterment of the school system.

R. Nelson Snider

He's the engineer who oils the cogwheels in the machinery of South Side High School. He sees that the parts are not rusty, that we are modern. His numerous capabilities are shown in the fact he participates in many civic organizations as well as being a beloved, respected principal. For this leader with twinkling eyes and a sparkling humor has kept us striving to uphold the high standards which are required in our school. His guidance has helped to make our school one of the best both in scholastic and extra-curricular achievements.

The picture at the top of the page shows our Dean of Girls, Miss Martha Pittenger, in a well-known pose in her office. We realize that many efforts are made on her behalf to guide us.

Good wishes
Martha M Pittenger

We are all familiar with the friendly man pictured at the lower right. Here we see Mr. Paul Sidell, guidance director, who is always willing to give us helpful advice.

The lower left picture is a scene showing the two capable girls in the general office. Smiling at their work are the Misses Ilo Hirschman, standing, and Viola Waldschmidt, who is no longer a member of the office staff.

Mrs. Maurice E. Murphy, president of the Parent-Teacher Association, presiding at the meeting of the home room mothers and executive board on October 9, to plan for "Back-to-School Night."

Perhaps leaving South Side at the end of four years seems to bring a touch of regret and sorrow, but finishing our senior year, with all of its activities to keep us busy, is really something to look forward to.

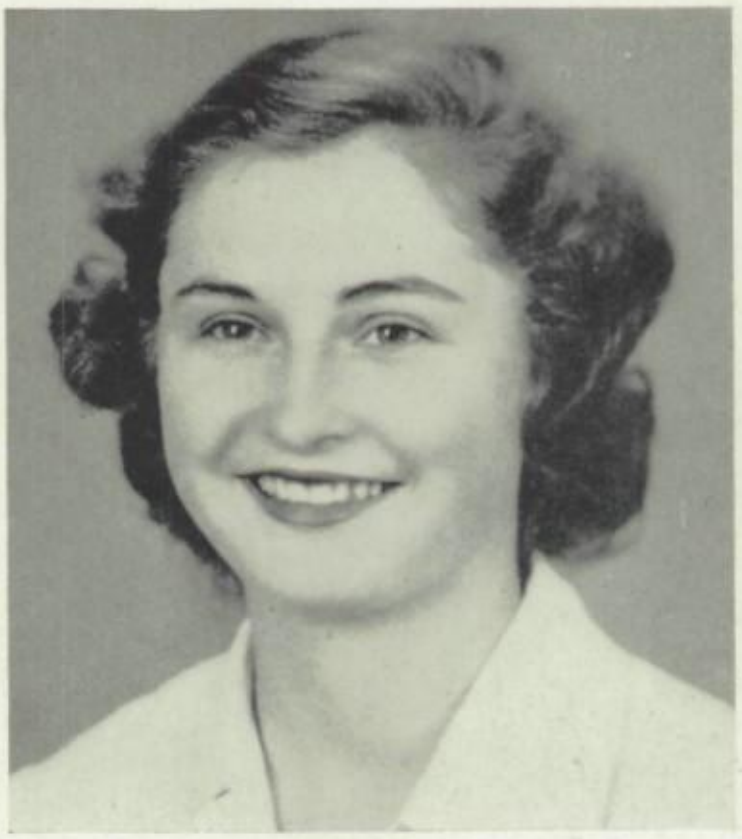
All through our four years in South Side, we have always had successful events. Remember "Arabian Nights", our Sophomore Party; "Going Our Way", our Junior Banquet; and most of all that very special and very wonderful Junior Prom, "Sentimental Journey"?

To start off our senior year, the Senior Reception was held, so that parents, teachers, and students could become better acquainted. Closely following this successful event was Senior Banquet, "Through the Years", which took us back to our freshman days and deeds, and brought us up to date, with a glimpse of the future added. In April our Senior Play, "Young Barry", was a big success. To end all of our hard work and good times came Recognition Day, closely followed by Senior Dance and finally Commencement.

We are ready now to go on to other things, but we shall always remember our four years here as some of the best ones in our lives, and always remember our wonderful senior year.

Our Class' Val And Sal

Jacky Sterner was named valedictorian of the '46 graduating class as a result of her 96.63 four-year honor average. In addition to her high scholastic average, she was also very active in extra-curricular activities. Jacky was the secretary of Wranglers and won her letter in speech. She was first in the freshman, junior, and senior oratorical declamation contests. She also won third place in the state oratorical declamation contest. She has her GAA numerals. Jacky holds a service pin in appreciation of her many years service to the school. She was general manager of The Times for a full semester. She has won her gold-jeweled 1500 club pin. Jacky was the secretary of Meterites.



JACQUELINE ANN STERNER

Margie Haberkorn won the place of salutatorian of the '46 graduating class with an average of 96 over a period of four years. Margie was a member of Meterites and the president of Philo. She was also a member of SPC and the Service Club. She placed second in the Cicero division of the state Latin contests and first in the Chamber of Commerce contests. Margie also served on The Times and on The Totem. She was a member of the South Side vesper choir.

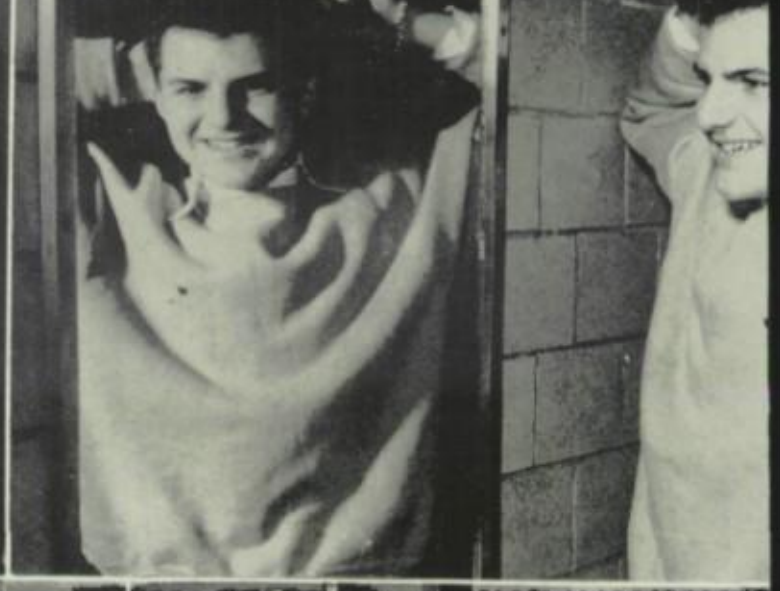
These Seniors Have Found Their Place

Remember those polls that you so diligently filled out way last fall? Well, after hours of counting votes, these are the results.

Top row, left to right: That unusually serious expression on musician Fred White's face is just for the photographer . . . Phid Holzwarth has the mischievous look as she poses behind a piano to demonstrate her title of best girl musician . . . Having done the most for the school, Jacky Sterner and Dick Dannecker add window washing to their many achievements. Jacky also rated as class orator among the girls . . . George Lebamoff, cutting-up as usual, is truly the class clown.

Second row: Ida Sanders and Dick Beery are justly proud of their athletic letters . . . Pert Elenor Dickmeyer is rated cutest of all senior belles . . . Handsome Chet Singer in a double exposure.

Third row: Betty Scheeler and Dude Gidley are the cutest couple—yes, it's his third year of winning half of this award . . . Tooth paste ad is what this looks like and Wick and Mac's personalities shine right through . . . Bill Tremple, surrounded by books, is looking his usual studious self.



The faculty also has its poll of the senior class. However, they do not choose the class clown or the boy with the cutest nickname; they choose the students who are outstanding in scholarship, citizenship, leadership, and service.

A list of all students scholastically in the upper third of their class is compiled in the office and is sent to each faculty member. The teachers must rate each student whom they know in the four fields mentioned above.

The students who have the honor of being chosen in this poll become members of the National Honor Society. The picture at the right shows some of the students at the National Honor Society program held in the gymnasium. All members of the society are pictured on pages 30 and 31.

It looks as if Don Bitsberger, upper left picture, is ready to receive roses for being the best boy orator. He also received laurels by being voted most likely to succeed, the boy who has done most for the school, and the boy with the best personality.

That infectious smile of Carol Denton, next in line on the top row, really shows why her orations always win.

Now Liz, how are you ever going to succeed, as your classmates think you will, if you don't keep your eyes on the files?

Now doesn't Tom Selecter really look gallant picking up sweet Jo Piatt's books in the lower left-hand picture? Of course, she's the most perfect lady and he's the most perfect gentleman. Tom's also the most handsome of the fellows.

In the middle picture, Math-Science prexy Milt Bronstein is most likely to succeed among the boys.

In the lower right corner, "Teddy Bear" Miller, the boy with the cutest nickname, and his namesake—they really look alike, don't you think?

Here are the students whom you chose to lead you successfully through your third year of high school. In the circle, reading from left to right are George Newton, president; Bill Seidel, social council; Bob Richards, vice-president; Mr. Ward Gilbert, Miss Hazel Miller, and Mr. Lloyd Whelan, advisers; Evelyn Will, secretary-treasurer; Sally Connell and Beverly Bain, social council.

Here you are, juniors, the results of those polls that you filled out way back in the dim forgotten past. Pictured at the top left and continuing across the page are Sharon Langohr, who gained top honors as the class orator among the girls and who was also crowned most perfect lady; Jim Solomon is the best boy orator; while Bob Rodey garnered the honors of top boy musician of his class.

Center: Laughing at the photographer from their comfortable seats are Virginia Bauman, cutest girl, and Frank Finfrock, who came in second as the most handsome boy.

In the lower left are the most handsome boy, Bud Greiner, and Sally Connell, who were chosen the cutest couple by their classmates. Bill Seidell does justice to his title, most perfect gentleman, as he rescues Marilyn Kayser's hanky from the floor. Marilyn was a close second in the polls as the most perfect lady.

Juniors Win Their Place In The Polls

Below are further results of the tallies made by the Class of '47. No sour notes are coming from that "licorice stick" of Joan Kline, pictured at the upper left, for her classmates agree that she is the best girl musician. That cute redhead, Sharon Gross, rates high as the girl athlete of her class. Gene Holtrey was selected the best boy athlete by a landslide of votes. Industriously doing the most for their beloved Alma Mater are Bob Johnson and Evelyn Will, who are the juniors most likely to succeed, so say the polls.

In the center: "A Study in Eating" might well be the title of this snap; George "Fig" Newton, who has the cutest nickname. "Fig" also has the best personality.

Bottom left: Some worms are forgotten altogether, and others are seldom noticed but the junior class says that the class bookworm is worthy of mention; and that honorable fellow is Richard May. Next in line is that wit of all wits, none other than your favorite clown, juniors, Bob Richards. Trying to free her hand from that friendly handshake is Georgia Dreisbach, who is tops when it comes to personality. The person at the other end of that grip is Dale Geiger, who was a close second on the personality rating for the boys. Trying hard to look successful are Chris Chicovsky and Jackie Wilson, who were runners-up as the most likely to succeed.

These outstanding sophomores were chosen tops by their classmates in the class polls. In the upper left hand corner are Gordon Stauffer and Phyllis Miller, who rated first in athletics. Fred Close and Sue Brudi were close seconds for the title of most likely to succeed. Second row: Ted Thieme assumes the studious pose of class bookworm, and Phyllis Shinn shows that she is really worthy of the honor of best girl musician. Third row: Nancy Gordon and Gordon Hickman make the best combination for cutest couple and Tom Archer tickles the ivories to prove he has what it takes to cop honors for the best boy musician.

Left to right, top row: Mariann Gilbert is the cutest sophomore belle while Dick Osha is the handsomest swain. The class funny man is Ed Clauser, and Pat Close and Bob Mossman have done the most for the school. In the center picture is Skeeter Bragg, proud owner of the cutest nickname. In the lower left hand corner are Tom Peterson and Lou Ann Bergman, who prove that smiling is the easiest way to win the title of best personality. In the estimation of their classmates, Norma Jenny and Bill Ashman are the most perfect lady and gentleman respectively. Displaying their speaking talent are Bill Wilks and Marcia Mast, who were voted the best class orators. Marcia is also the girl most likely to succeed.

Here are a few of our most outstanding freshmen, as shown by the class poll. First row, left to right: Barbara Waggoner and Beach Hall captured the title of "most likely to succeed" from their fellow students. Unpredictable Richard Brett was most decidedly voted the "class clown". Peppy Bill Beery is absolutely the "best boy athlete" as revealed by the polls. Dorcas MacKay and Dick Worman have "done the most for the school", according to their classmates. Second row: Sparkling Elizabeth Lichtenberg rated high on the ballots as the "class orator" of the girls. None other than gallant Joe Gold was adjudged the honor of "class orator" of the boys and many think he has "done the most for the school". It was mutually agreed that pensive Ruth Makey is the "class bookworm". Typical Archers, Dick Jenkins and Vicky Turpchinoff, look very happy for they were chosen by their classmates for having the "best personalities" of the class.

Recognized

First row, left to right: Phil Hoffman and Cherie Hager were chosen the "cutest couple" by the class. . . Smiling Carolyn Scholer was picked from among her classmates as the "best girl musician" . . . . Vivacious "Skippy" Brunskill was unanimously judged the girl with the "cutest nickname". . . . Many think Jane McDonald is the "best girl athlete". Second row: Charming Helen Litchin was voted the "most perfect lady" and Frank Whiting was selected as the "most perfect gentleman", who also rates high among his classmates as "most handsome boy". . . . Pretty Joella Seibert and popular Rollie Miller took top honors for "cutest girl" and "most handsome boy". . . . Energetic Paul Misegades was selected as "best musician" by his classmates.

The Junior Banquet is a school event which the juniors always enjoy, and the memory of it will linger in their minds for a long time.

In the South Side stadium the band and the twirlers give a demonstration of their ability to parade.

Are Enjoyed Students

The basketball games are always fun; and, to add to the entertainment of the evening, there is often an after-game dance. As you can see by this picture, the students enjoyed themselves at the Meterites dance.

Another scene of the Meterites After-Game dance.

Along with the other good features of the Junior Banquet is the food. Don't you agree with me? Here they are lining up for self-service at the cafeteria counter.

The sophomores also have an annual event to which to look forward—the Sophomore Party. See how industriously they do their work.

Christmas is the season for festivity, and the South Side Choir takes advantage of the occasion. Here they are shown doing a little singing at their party.

War Activities

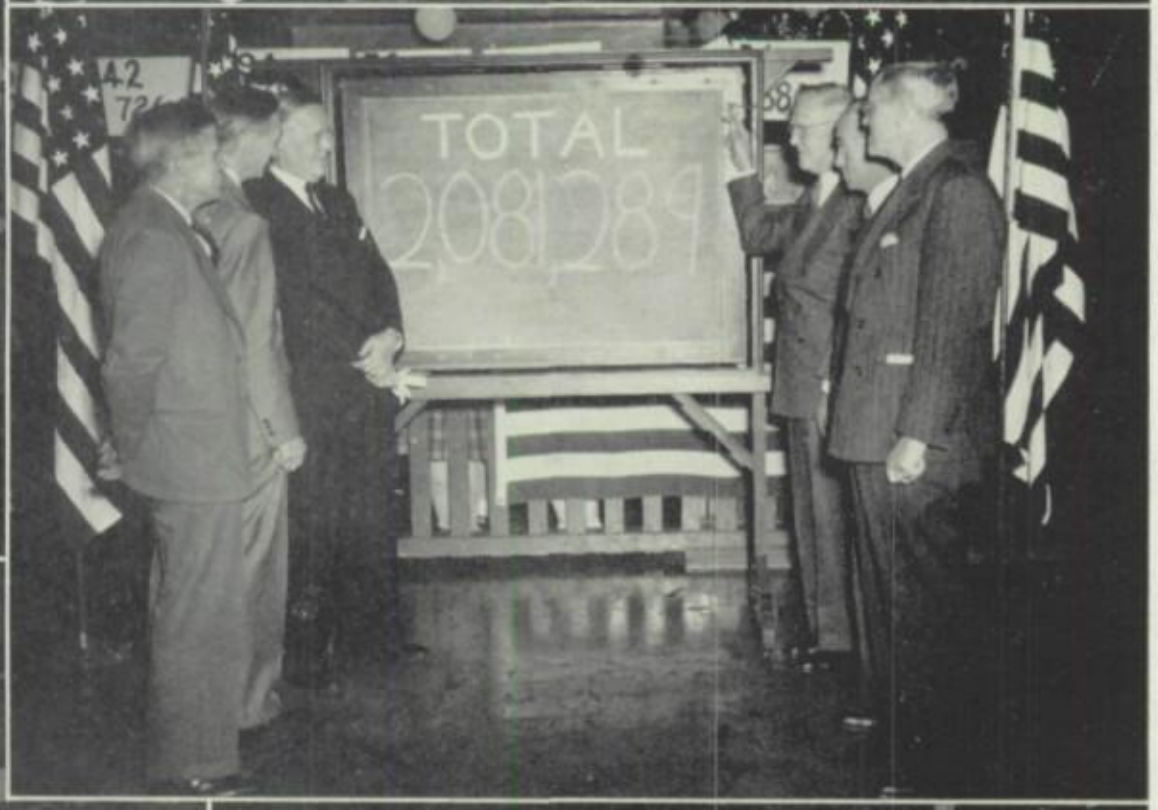
The South Side War Council through regular Thursday sales and special bond drives netted a final total of nearly two million dollars.

South Siders backed the efforts of the Council with one hundred per cent participation for nearly three years; and, when rallies were held, they went out and solicited pledges from members of this community.

Our bond rally in November featured such outstanding members of the community as Mrs. Victor Rea, who is shown at the microphone as she spoke on "Bringing the Boys Back."

At the rally our minuteman flag paying tribute to our efforts was unveiled. Bob Johnson was master of ceremonies. Other typical scenes such as the progressive totals table are shown.

Bond Drives



Scenes of our November Rally are still fresh in our mind. We all remember when Cadet Nurse Miss Margot Todd addressed the assembly on "Caring For Our Sick and Wounded." At the lower right, we find Lt. Bob Druhot, a well-known ex-South Sider, speaking at the rally. The chorus and band furnished music.

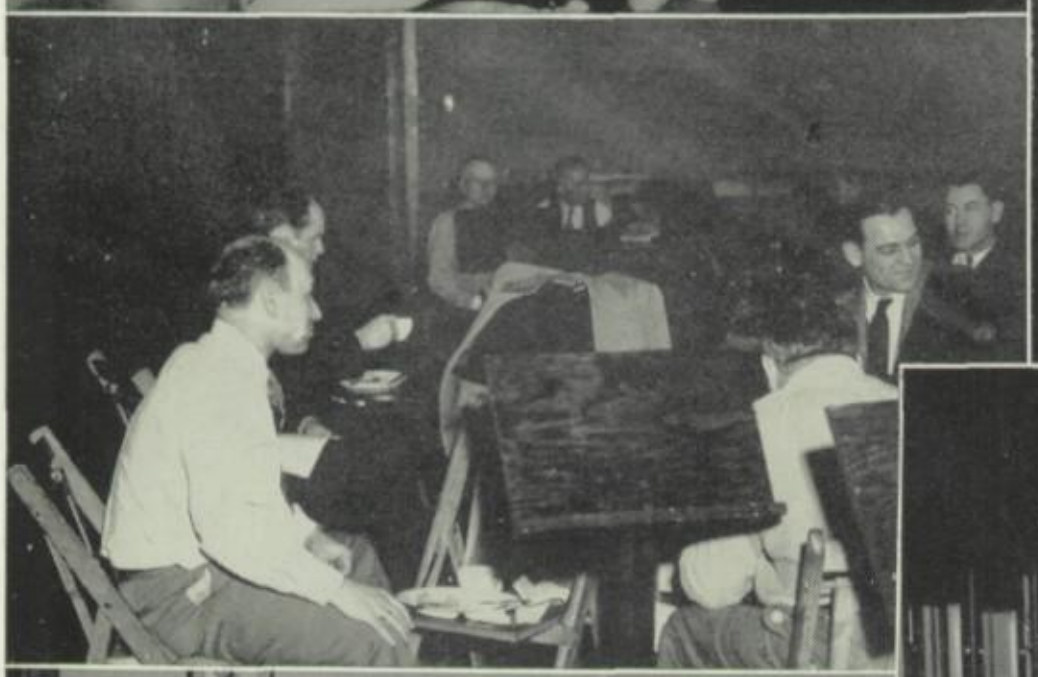
Help To Needy

Joan Winters interviews Eugene Johnson at the service shrine for The Times. Among the many South Siders who visited the war souvenirs exhibit were Kenneth Redding and Barbara Anderson. The upper and lower right pictures illustrates how the exhibit appealed to students and servicemen alike. Also in the right column we find members of the foreign language department who collected clothes to be sent overseas to their adopted Dutch war orphan and others. Although Miss Thorne's Home Room 52 is composed of freshmen, it is one of the most active home rooms when it comes to participation in war activities. They have adopted and are now supporting an English war orphan for whom they are shown packing a Christmas box.

War Souvenirs

South Side pays tribute to her honored dead in the front hall show-case where their pictures are on display. David Blackledge, who spent almost three years in Santo Tomas prison camp during the Japanese occupation of the Philippines, displays some of his war souvenirs. In helping the school to raise a grand total of nearly two million dollars, we find Bob Haller, Robert Johnson, Miss Pauline VanGorder, Robert Pfeiffer, Correne Rockhill, Bob Krouse, Delores Lee, Marshall Lincoln, Virginia Becker, and Ginny Babcoke, members of the War Council. The war souvenirs exhibit drew many to Room 102. Servicemen Alvin Haley and Jim Beinke visit the service shrine and sign the service book.



Faculty Meets Outside Classroom

Teachers Hold Parties

The Times

Jacky Sterner was general manager of The Times from September through January. Having a wide background on The Times, she successfully edited and managed it through the entire semester.

Also Serves

During the whole of the spring semester, the popular and equally successful general manager of The Times was Barbara Hyman.

Totem Staff

Last spring Miss Harvey announced the positions of editor, circulation manager, and business manager for The 1946 Totem. From that time on, these staff members have been working hard and long to publish your 1946 Totem. Other positions were filled by those seniors who volunteered their services to aid in publishing their own class annual. The result was a hard-working and well-coordinated staff. Some positions called for more work than others, and many students aided others in getting their work done when their position did not call for extra effort. Among these positions were those of editor, circulation manager, and senior editor, which were filled by Don Breimeier, Anita Link, and Gene Hahn. Doing more than assistant circulation manager needed to do was Beth Klopfenstein.

In the summer a theme is picked out. The theme for the 1946 Totem is "Let Us Strive On." This phrase was taken from Abraham Lincoln's Second Inaugural Address, an address which should be well known by all of us. The theme has a current interest and meaning to all the peoples of this earth as well as to us here. This theme is portrayed by the various divisions of the book.

At the time staff pictures were taken, Barbara Parker was out of town and did not get her picture taken. Listed as an office manager, Barbara did much more than this position called for. Pat Connett, also an office manager, tried her hand at a few stories. Correne Rockhill wrote GAA stories in addition to fulfilling her office duties. Ruth Miller managed the office during the fifth period.

Craig Glass carried the big job of photography by himself for a time. Many pictures in the book were also taken, in Craig's absence, by Don Breimeier. Later in the year, Jim Palmer offered his services as Craig's official assistant.

Tusie Pohlmeyer and Beth Klopfenstein aided Anita in her big job as circulation manager.

Don Schoenherr was a very willing worker on The Totem. As sports editor, he wrote many fine stories. Georgia Dreisbach, a very able writer, was picked to write material on South Side scenics. Such stories as those covering war activities and the yearbook were written by Don Breimeier.

South Side Is Recognized For Speakers

Per usual, Archer students came through with innumerable honors in speech. Because there are other activities to be mentioned in the Totem, only a few of the very outstanding speakers can herein be shown and mentioned. It would take an entire yearbook to name everyone responsible for such a gala year in speech, for every Wrangler put forth extra-special effort to give lovable Mrs. Rieke a grand last year, for with Mr. "R" home from the wars, she's off to be a wife amid loud wails of anguish from devoted pupils.

The year started off with the popular Freshman-Sophomore Contest. Freshman Joe Gold had stiff competition, but won as Bonnie Schemehorn and Gerry Kierspe copped second and third place honors. Bill Waterfield proved himself tops among the sophs.

In the field of discussion and Junior Town Meeting participation, Bob Haller, Keith Murphy, Lee Wood, Cynthia Koerber, Tom Watson, Hugh Arnold, Ann Keenan, Lou Kayser, Dot Sibley, Sheldon Stern, Jacky Sterner, Louis Bloom, and Don Bitzberger come to the front. Some of these appeared on programs with Hillsdale, Michigan; Central Catholic High; and Howe Military Academy. Others presented discussion performances to the Fort Wayne English Council. Louis Bloom carried the Archer colors in the Rotary Discussion Contest.

Every-busy "Bits", as the Archer representative, was the winner of the Kiwanis impromptu fray. He also was South's pride and joy in the American Legion oratory contest.

Giving everyone a big laugh in the humorous declamation contest was first place winner Louis Bloom. Other declamation winners were Mary Lou Singer and Beverly Rudig, co-champions in the dramatic group. Coming to the fore in oratorical dec were Jacky Sterner, Jim Solomon, and Sue Brudi, winners respectively of the senior, junior, and sophomore divisions. Jim Solomon also stood out as the original oratory champ.

Those most gifted in the art of poetry reading were Lou Kayser and Dick May.

In the first extemporaneous contest, junior and senior winners were Louis Bloom and Don Bitsberger. In the second contest Milt Bronstein was the senior winner, and Ellen Goble carried off underclassman honors.

Winners in the discussion contest sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce were Leona Wood, senior; Sheldon Stern, junior.

Those well qualified to carry the Green and White to state at Indiana University were Mary Lou Singer, dramatic dec; Sheldon Stern and Louis Bloom, humorous dec; Jacky Sterner and Jim Solomon, oratorical dec; Lee Wood and Tom Selecter, original oratory; Lou Kayser, poetry reading; Keith Murphy, radio announcing.

The circle shot shows the girl SPC members during a critical moment of "Theodore Junior", a play they presented to the club. You never saw so many disappointed girls when they found out that Theodore was a little boy.

The center picture is of the Math - Science Halloween party. It looks as if the entertainment got the best of some of the members, but most of them seem to be having a swell time.

The Service Club banquet is the big event of that club during the year, for it is their sole social event. By the way they're going at it, the food must be good. Members of the Service Club offer their services to the faculty members and school throughout the year.

The lower right picture is of members of Philo as they go about conducting a meeting.

The center pictures are scenes at Philo's initiation ceremonies. On the left, initiates are pictured on the stage of the Greeley Room. After the ceremonies were over, members were entertained by Carol Ramsey and Mary Helen Mitchel, who sang. They were accompanied by Marcia Mast.

The boy SPC members presented their impression of "Allen's Alley." It went over in a big way. Those boys have talent.

Phil Steigerwald, baritone, at left, has become well-known for his vocal work. Ruth Lowry, right, has capably handled soprano solos and also assisted as accompanist for the chorus. Seated at the piano is Phyllis Holzwarth, piano soloist and choir accompanist.

Choir Adds Much To Community Pleasure

The South Side Vesper Choir has completed another busy concert season. During the year the choir, under the direction of Mr. Lester Hostetler, has presented about fifty programs for various social and civic organizations. The repertoire of the choir consists of approximately sixty popular, secular, sacred, and classical songs.

Among those who have contributed their talents to make this a successful year are LaDonna Sprunger, assistant pianist; Elizabeth Mossman, Dorcas MacKay, Bill Holzwarth, also pianists; and Don Wright and Virginia Eme, secretaries. Eldora Liddy, contralto, has also done outstanding work.

Highlights of the year were concerts at the Peabody Memorial Home and the Church of the Brethren in North Manchester, Indiana, and the annual spring concert held in South Side's gym. During the Easter season, the choir sang at the First Methodist Church and the Paramount Theater. Christmas programs were presented at the Women's Club and the West Creighton Avenue Christian Church. The choir also performed for the Simpson Methodist Church, Masonic Temple, First Evangelical Church, and the Parent-Teachers' Association.

The purpose of the choir is to teach poise in public performance and give a thorough knowledge of music. The department is divided into two divisions, training chorus and concert choir. Promotion from chorus to choir is based on the student's musical ability and willingness to work. The music room was recently redecorated to suit the needs of the department, and a grand piano was purchased. These improvements have made it possible for the choir to produce better concerts, and certainly South Side can point with pride to the Vesper Choir.

South Siders Are Proud Of Their Band

The South Side Band and Orchestra, directed by Herbert Arlington, has achieved high merit this year. The outstanding event was the Spring Concert on March 29, at which the band presented such music as the Nutcracker Suite and Symphony No. 5 by Tschaikowsky, which are rarely presented by high school students. The department has added much to the equipment, among which are black porta desks lettered in gold, and black leather music folios also lettered in gold. The band has a membership of seventy-five and the orchestra forty-five. In January the band made its first trip since the war when it went to Huntington for the basketball game.

Another large branch is the String Ensemble consisting of twenty pieces. It has made several appearances in the city this year, playing for receptions, banquets, and parties. Other groups are a woodwind quintet, flute, clarinet, french horn, brass, and drum quartets. The school and public have been entertained by many of our soloists. Some are: Phyllis Shinn, piano; Katherine Tanner, cello; Robert Pfeiffer, baritone; and Fred White, drum.

The two most outstanding soloists of the year were Joan Suter, left, and Richard Norris, right. Joan plays violin, piano, and organ. She is a junior A and has played the violin for three and a half years. Richard Norris plays clarinet and saxophone. He is a senior A and has played clarinet for eight years. Both intend to carry on with music after graduating from high school.

Won 5, Lost 4

Although this year's team did not roll up the best season record in South Side's grid history, the Archers, under the able coaching of George Collyer, were among the better ball clubs of the entire state. The Green finished the season with a won-5 and lost-4 record, but many of these games were dropped by a small margin.

Rolling up 171 points to their opponents' 73, South Side looked mighty impressive with a near-veteran team back from last year's great squad. Keeping their two backfield combinations intact, the Archers roared out with four straight victories. Central's Tigers snapped the string by nosing the Green in a typical Central vs. South thriller by a 14-to-12 score.

Like last year's team, the Archer attack depended on no specific individual with Dick Beery, deceptive runner; Slingin' Bob McClain, running either end and passing for many touchdowns; and hard-driving Dick Ellenwood carrying the brunt of the attack.

The Green's powerful backs would have had little success if it weren't for the brains of the team, signal-calling Wick Disler.

Although the Kelly backs deserve much credit, their efforts would have been in vain if it weren't for such stellar linemen as center Joe Fields, who was nominated the No. 2 center in the whole state; Gene Holtrey and "Big Ed" Roth at the tackle slots; Jack Reed and Dick McMahan, two mighty fine guards who stopped many of the opponents' offensive attacks; and diminutive Keith Miller and lanky Tom Selecter, two great ends who will go down in Archer record books as two of the best.

Yes, South Side has a right to be proud of this year's team which piled up a mighty fine season for Archer prestige on the gridiron.

On The Hardwood

Ending one of the greatest seasons in South Side history which nearly saw an Archer sectional crown, the Green netters compiled a mighty fine won-lost record of nineteen and three.

Graduating from this year's squad are such stellar performers as Bragg, Garrison, and Gidley (South's Big Three), of the first five, and Beery, Selecter, and Disler of the second team.

John Bragg was the No. 1 punch on the Archer team as the husky forward dumped in 190 points in regular season games. Bob Garrison was No. 2 man finishing up the season close behind Bragg. Bob's tricky passes gave many baskets to teammates who shook themselves loose under the hoop. Dude Gidley was the handsome, curly-headed lad who really popped them in down at Huntington. Dude is a smooth floor man, and a deadly set-shot artist. Long Tom Selecter, Dick Beery, and Willis Disler were the reserve power Scotty depended on when the regulars failed to get anything started, and these three lads fired the team up with their fight and savvy.

The Archers ran a victory string at the season's outset to nine games, but Murray Mendenhall's Tigers took the Green into camp at the North Side gym 34 to 26. Almost two weeks later, the Archers ran into a tough Lebanon outfit and the Scottmen were set back by a 35-to-33 score. The Kellys took their last five games of the regular season, and among these five rested the Central Tigers.

South got a pretty fair draw in the sectional tournament, but failed to stop those Central Tigers and Bob Milton. Central continued through regional play, super-regional, and then, in the final game, lost to the Anderson Indians for the state championship. In the sectional tournament, the Archers drubbed New Haven, 33 to 19, Huntertown, 51 to 24, and North Side in a bitter game, 36 to 33.

South Side's hats are off to a mighty fine team that brought to Archerland a host of glory.

Cindermen Have Busy Season

Despite the fact that the track season hasn't been completed as this story goes to press, Coach George Collyer seems to have another state champion contender in the making. Last year the Archers made a good showing at the state finals, and this year the Kelly Cinder Men are hoping for just as good or better a record at the Capital City.

In their first meet of the year, the Green tangled in a three-way meet with Huntington's Vikings and the Central Tigers. The Green copped that meet by a score of 70 to Huntington's 30 and Central's 26. Elkhart's Blue Blazers were the next victim of the Green powerhouse with the Collyermen winning 57½ to 50½.

The second picture is of the golf winners. They are Dick Quinn, Gerald Ellis, Gordon Stauffer, Bill Wilks, and DeNeal Hartman.

Those boys who walked off with the tennis titles are Jon Wittgenfeld, DeNeal Hartman, and Bob Humbert.

South Side has its group of champion bowlers. They are, standing, Dwight Fate, Paul Gerke, Pat Quinn, and Larry Grothaus. Kneeling are John Birk, Ken Hegerfeld, and Eugene Day.

Intramural Sports Offer Active Pastime For Boys

Sports are the chief interest of many South Side boys; and, since only a few boys are able to make the grade of varsity sports, intramural gives them the opportunity to display their skill. It also gives the boys something to do after their long day of studies is past. Boys may participate in one or all of the wide line of intramural sports that is open to them. Competition in many of the sports is divided according to three weight divisions, light, middle, and heavyweight.

Mr. Louis Briner is the head of the boys' physical education department. His ability to work with the boys has made him the popular head of intramural sports program. He is better known as "Louie."

Top to bottom:

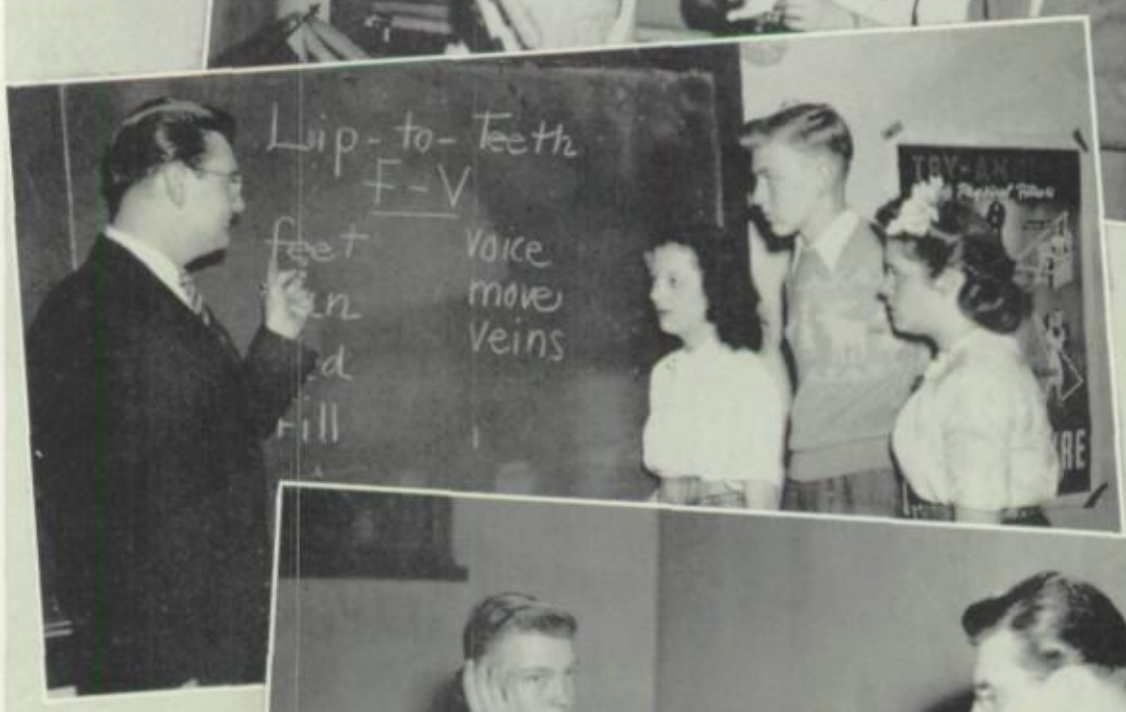
Mr. Lloyd Way, member of the Department of Speech and Hearing Therapy, teaches students the art of speech reading.



Mr. Way gives the special hearing test to a student. This test determines the extent of a person's deafness.

Dr. Elmer C. Singer examines a student during school hours. He is here during the second period and is ready to serve everyone.

GAA Activities Enjoyed

Mrs. Alice Keegan and Miss Helen Pohlmeyer head the girls GAA and gym classes. They are also responsible for the many wonderful spring shows. These popular teachers have helped to make GAA the fine organization it is today.

Many GAA activities are enjoyed by the girls of South Side. The purpose of GAA is to give sports-minded girls an opportunity to enjoy the things they like. Upperclass GAA meets on Mondays and underclass on Friday after school.

GAA tennis champs are Elaine Peoples and Sharon Gross.

Spring Show

This year the topic of our Spring Show was "Sweethearts." The Kelly sweethearts gave a very enjoyable performance for the benefit of a capacity group of students and adults. Some of the outstanding features of the program were exercises in three-four and four-four rhythm by junior and senior girls, an exhibition baseball game, relays, and French, Swiss, and American folk dances. The grand finale was the "Sweethearts Waltz", in which all the girls were attired in colorful formals.

The two top pictures are snaps of the tumblers. Every year they have an exciting part in the show.

The third picture shows some of the modern ballet dancers. This group is composed of some of the most graceful Archer girls.

The fourth picture is the "Sweethearts on Parade." These girls gave a very memorable performance, as all of us who attended will remember.

In the fifth picture are the "Hawaiian Sweethearts." They had a very picturesque dance which was enjoyed by all.
